

Auburn University

Auburn University is located in the southeastern United States, in east-central Alabama, in Lee County. The city of Auburn has a population of 47,290 while an adjacent city, Opelika, has a population of 26,000. Geographically, the city of Auburn and Auburn University meet at what is known as “Toomer’s Corner”. Here the flourishing community and expanding university create a warm, friendly spirit that can only be described as “Auburn”.

The bond between the city and university is exemplified along the streets of downtown Auburn where tribute is paid to Auburn University’s greatest athletes, coaches, and administrators. Known as the Tiger Trail of Auburn, this walk of fame consists of 50 granite plaques bearing the inductee’s names. With each new year plaques will be added as more Auburn men and women are recognized for their contributions. The Tiger Trail is sponsored by the Auburn Chamber of Commerce and funded by private citizens. This tradition represents the connection between the city and the university which will remain forever. Truly, the City of Auburn is unique to the state of Alabama. Once the “Auburn spirit” gets in your blood, you will never want to leave. People come to visit and stay a lifetime.